Using CHG Cloths at Home Before Surgery If your child is more than 60 pounds

What are CHG cloths?

CHG (2% chlorhexidine gluconate) cloths are germ-killing (antiseptic) wipes used to clean the skin. Germs live on the skin. CHG cloths kill 99% of the germs on the skin to help prevent germs from causing a serious infection.

When should CHG cloths be used at home?

- Before your child has surgery or a procedure where the skin will be broken.
- CHG cloths will be used once on the night before the surgery or procedure.
- CHG cloths will be used again the day of surgery or procedure before coming to the hospital.

Do not use CHG cloths if your child:

- has an allergy to CHG or aloe vera
- is receiving radiation therapy
- is receiving Thiotepa (a chemotherapy drug)
- has severe skin breakdown, rash, burns or open skin wounds

How to use the CHG cloths:

1. Clean your hands with warm soapy water.
2. Give your child a bath or shower the night before the surgery or procedure. Shampoo your child's hair. Use a clean towel to dry your child. Dry the hair after.
3. Keep the cloths away from your child's eyes, ears, and mouth.
4. Wipe the skin with a CHG cloth using a circular or back and forth motion over the area to be cleaned. Gently wipe the skin, do not scrub.
5. After using the CHG cloths, wrap your child in a clean towel until the skin is dry. Wet CHG in between skin folds and around your child's neck can cause irritation.
6. Once the skin is dry, dress your child in clean washed clothes.
7. Before coming to the hospital on the day of the surgery or procedure, wipe the skin again with the CHG cloths. Do not repeat a bath or shower.

Do not:

- Do not use conditioner or any other hair products except for shampoo.
- Do not rinse or wipe off the skin after using the CHG cloths. It is normal for the skin to feel sticky or tacky. Once the skin is dry this feeling will go away.
- Do not use lotion or makeup.
- Do not put the cloths in the microwave.
